REVENUE BILL IS REVISED TO KILL "TAX ON TAXES"

Corporations Are Paying Twice On the Same Money

IS A LOSS-OF $40,000,000

Hope is Expressed That The Bill Will Bring In Needed Revenue

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Senate Finance Committee, in another stormy session, agreed yesterday to eliminate from its compromise corporation tax plan a "tax on taxes."

It was estimated this decision would mean a loss of $40,000,000 in revenue. Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) said the bill, as altered, should raise at least $529,000,000 more than existing law. To that would be added $100,000,000 expected from a "windfall" tax on processors, who evaded payment of Agricultural Adjustment Administration levies.

The tax on taxes would have resulted from the fact that money used to pay a projected flat 18 per cent tax on total corporation income, since it would not have been distributed to stockholders, would have been subject to a seven per cent levy on undistributed corporation earnings.

President Roosevelt wants Congress to provide $792,000,000 additional revenue annually for three years and $620,000,000 annually thereafter.

Harrison said he hoped the bill in ultimate form would bring in the revenue sought by the President, indicating changes might be made to that end. He said:

"I hope we can keep from increasing the personal income tax rate, but that keeps bobbing up."

He spoke also of a possibility of re-adjusting income surtaxes upward, as well as lowering exemptions of individual income tax-payers.

He said he expected to report the bill out of committee Monday afternoon and take it up on the Senate floor late next week.

Dancing Academy Pupils Are To Present Recital

The little pupils of the Granzow Dancing Academy will hold their first annual recital in Mutual Aid hall, Wood street, Tuesday evening. This group of talented youngsters will present a program of clever dances that have been taught them by Sara and Gladys Granzow, two young women who are well known for their dancing ability all over the country as professional entertainers.

The Granzows will be remembered by many Bristolians, having appeared in the old Forrest Theatre in "Pinafore," which was presented by Frank Horn, a local man, who has since advanced in his stage career. They have appeared in the Zeigfeld Folies, Shubert's Revues, also in some of Ned Weyburn's musical comedies and in vaudeville. They also spent two years in Europe studying under some of the world's best dancing masters. Sara and Gladys also were solo dancers in a show with Ted Healy, while the latter was a Broadway favorite. Healy is now a star comedian in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios in Hollywood. Last year the Granzows retired from active stage work, and opened a studio of dancing in the Manor block, Croydon, where they taught a large class of children the technique and personality so essential for stage work.

The program is in two parts with 32 specialty features and choruses produced by these two young women.

TWO YOUTHS UNDER BAIL ON LARCENY CHARGE

Police Recover Some Loot In a Search Made of Home

RECOVER TIRES, RIMS

Two Bristol youths are under $500 bail each for a further hearing Monday night to answer to the charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Those to receive preliminary hearings yesterday afternoon were:

Angelo Marquette, 20, 201 Brook street.

Salvatore Giano, 20, 929 Mansion street.

According to the police they took Marquette and Giano into custody early yesterday morning, after a motorist who parked his car at Radcliffe and Lafayette streets, reported that the bumper had been stolen from his machine. A description was given of the two boys seen in the neighborhood and Officers Nichols and Ferry picked them up.

When first arrested, Giano gave the name of his brother, Louis, but police later discovered the misrepresentation.

After their arrests the lads, according to the police, admitted robbing a number of machines and a search was made of the Giano residence and police found a number of tires, tire rims and metal tire covers.

It is the belief of the police that these two youths are responsible for a number of robberies and it was with this thought in mind that the two were given only preliminary hearings, so as to afford more time in which to investigate their activities.

The police appeal to those who have had tires and other automobile accessories stolen, to inform them of such thefts and in this way perhaps identify their property from among the loot thus far recovered.

Named District Manager For Lower Bucks County

V. Blackadder), "In Mezo al Mar" (Sadero), "O del mio amato ben" (Donaudy), "Ach weh mir, ungluckhafter Mann" (Strauss), "Zu-eignung" (Strauss); piano solo, Mr. Kramers, "Liebestraum No. 3" (Liszt); "Sous Bois" (Staube); glee club, "Home On the Range" (Peery); orchestra, "Traume" (Wagner), "Letzter Fruhling" (Grieg); glee club, "Winter Song" (Bullard); trumpet solo, C. Brodie (accompanied W. Schreiber); "Stars in a Velvet Sky" (Clarke); glee club, "Bells of St. Mary's" (Adams); orchestra, "La Source" (Debussy), Rakoczy March.

LANDON'S PRINCIPLES CONSTRUCTIVENESS

(New York American, May 21, 1936)

Mr. Kaltenborn: What line of action should the Republican Party take?

Governor Landon: The Republican Party must prepare itself to be the instrument by which the American people can obtain good government.

Good intentions are not enough. Our high national ideals, the call for social justice, our goal of maximum individual opportunity for every man, woman and child in the land, are all being betrayed by a wasteful, slipshod, incompetent, happy-go-lucky Administration.

American people are being given half a loaf and charged for a full loaf. Progressive government deserves something better than casual experiments.

It can succeed only when accompanied by careful preparation, competent administration and sound fiscal policies.

Where humanitarian legislation is needed, we must provide it. Where labor or agriculture are under disadvantages, these must be removed. Where business is being hamstrung so that it cannot furnish goods or jobs, we must free them.

Anybody who tries to divide our people against themselves is not the friend of America.—From Mr. Kaltenborn's radio interview with Governor Landon, on May 8.

"THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE BEING GIVEN HALF A LOAF AND CHARGED FOR A FULL LOAF."

Governor Landon here, again, laid his finger, with unerring judgment, on the whole short-change policy of this Administration.

The half a loaf that has been handed the American people is mostly the BLACK BREAD OF "RELIEF."

The charges are burdensome TAXES that hamper business and enhance the living expense of the common people, a NATIONAL DEBT of $33,000,000,000 and a growing BUREAUCRATIC AUTOCRACY that threatens the soul and center of our liberties—the Bill of Rights.

To Mr. Kaltenborn's question as to what action the Republican Party should take Governor Landon has DIRECT and CONSTRUCTIVE ideas:

A MAXIMUM OF INDIVIDUAL OPPORTUNITY, A COMPETENT ADMINISTRATION, SOUND FISCAL POLICIES, NO CLASS LEGISLATION.

This will take the place of the present "WASTEFUL, SLIPSHOD, INCOMPETENT, HAPPY-GO-LUCKY ADMINISTRATION" that is now boondoggling us into another and still more calamitous crisis.

"GOOD INTENTIONS ARE NOT ENOUGH," says Governor Landon, no doubt recalling that Hell as well as the New Deal are both paved with the "gold bricks" of good intentions.

Introduces Bill For Dike at Morrisville

MORRISVILLE, May 23.—In his efforts to secure protection to the residents of the Island and North Delmor avenue against damage from future floods, Mayor Thomas B. Stockham, who is also a member of the Pennsylvania State Legislature, has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives providing for an appropriation of $110,000 for the building of a new dike or levee along the Delaware, at Morrisville, between the two river bridges, for a distance of 3,000 feet.

The money is to be appropriated to the Department of Forests and Waters which would have charge of the improvement. The bill was referred to committee and Assemblyman Stockham will make every effort to have it enacted into law. Flood relief was one of the subjects for which Governor Earle called the special session.

Instantly, May 23.—Thousands were left homeless and much property was in ruin today as the floods caused by heavy rains ravished the Kars district.

Hails "Hindenburg's" Record

Frankfort-on-Main, Germany, May 23.—Germany today hailed the new record of 48 hours and 25 minutes, set by the Zeppelin "Hindenburg" on its second eastward crossing of the North Atlantic, from Lakehurst to Frankfort.

The Hindenburg arrived here at 4.30 a. m. today (11.30 p. m., Friday, e. d. t.) after taking off from Lakehurst at 11.05, e. d. t., Wednesday. The Hindenburg's previous eastward crossing was accomplished in 49 hours and 19 minutes.

Nazi Attacks On Castle

Vienna, May 23.—A Nazi attack on Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg's Waxenburg Castle, near Linz, was disclosed today.

Two Nazis were shot and killed and several wounded when a strong detachment tried to storm the castle.

Eight of the Nazis were arrested. The leader escaped however, and officials said he presumably fled into Germany.

An official communique stated the attack was staged with the aim of seizing Heimwehr arms, believed to be stored in the castle.

Grill "Black Legion" Members

Detroit, May 23.—While grilling of 16 members of the "Black Legion" in connection with the murder of Charles A. Poole revealed black hooded night riders, had Detroit divided into "zones," authorities today sought other victims of horse whippings administered by the Black Legionnaires. Poole, a former WPA worker, was slain on a lonely road after a relative by marriage complained to one hand of the "Black Legion" that he had misused his wife.

He was given no chance to deny the charges and today his wife, who gave birth to a baby girl six days before Poole was found slain on May 13, branded the charge a lie.

PLAN IMPROVEMENTS TO BUCKS COUNTY PRISON

Approved by Grand Jury; 31 Bills of Indictment Before the Jury

VISIT THE COUNTY HOME

DOYLESTOWN, May 23.—Numerous improvements are being planned to the Bucks County prison, said plans being approved by the Grand Jury for the May term of court.

Both the interior and exterior of the prison property are to benefit. Approval of the projects is made known by the foreman, Dr. Alric Garland, Chalfont.

It was recommended by the grand jury that the kitchen be plastered, and that 50 chairs be purchased for use of visitors.

The Grand Jury had 31 bills of indictment before them, returned 28 true bills, and ignored three others.

They visited the Bucks County Home and found things in satisfactory order and well maintained. The Grand Jury complimented the personnel of the home for their efficient methods in taking care of the institution.

The plans and location of a proposed fruit cellar on the premises of the Bucks County Home were approved, in addition to a machinery building and repair shop, both of which were recommended by the Directors of the Poor. The estimated cost as specified is $10,000, of which $7,000 was accounted for in the budget.

The Administration Building and the Court House were visited also. The Grand Jury found them in excellent condition, maintained in fine manner with employees very satisfied. They recommended the purchase of new window shades in the Sheriff's office.

UNGRATEFUL REPUBLIC

Republics are notoriously ungrateful. So John Knight Munro Barry may comfort himself with the thought that he has fared no worse than other public benefactors have fared when they have turned to a republic and said, "See what I have done for you. Now what are you going to do for me?"

You probably read in the paper about the court of claims throwing out John Knight Munro Barry's suit for $10,000,000 for his services in restoring prosperity. It was away back in 1929-30 that he restored prosperity. Prosperity lasted only about six months; but that was not Barry's fault. Here is the previously unrevealed chapter of history set forth in Mr. Barry's bill of complaint:

Late in 1929, when Mr. Barry was an auditor and accountant in the income tax bureau, he wrote long letters to President Hoover and Ogden L. Mills, then under-secretary of the treasury, telling them how to end the depression and bring back prosperity. Mr. Barry's prescience is proved by the fact that the letter to Mr. Hoover was written on September 28, 1929, several weeks before the stock market crash which, to most of the country, heralded the beginning of the depression. The letter to Mr. Mills was written on October 30, 1929, just after the crash.

On December 31, 1929, Mr. Barry was dismissed from his income tax post. Despite this ungrateful gesture, Mr. Barry asserts, the Hoover Administration adopted his plan to end the depression—adopted it so successfully that "there was an immediate uptrend of business and industry which continued for approximately one-half year and restored business conditions to almost normal. This was the greatest throughout the Hoover regime and up to the present time."

Mr. Barry, with all his troubles, seems a reasonable man. He said the period of prosperity which he brought about in 1930 "was worth untold millions of dollars to the nation and to the world"; but all he asked in his lawsuit was $10,000,000. The court of claims threw out Mr. Barry's suit, and denied its own jurisdiction over his claim to reinstate him to his $3,400 job. He ought to ask Senator Norris to abolish the court of claims.

Rep. Zioncheck doesn't suggest a type who would do any better where he is going at 70 miles an hour than where he is.

Proofreaders are wonderful people. No matter how you write it, in the weeks ahead, it will come out "baccalaureate" in the paper.

A stray bullet went through an Arizona roof and landed in a boy's bed. The boy, fortunately, was a modern child, and was not in the bed.

A radio writer asks how swing bands got their start. We've traced it back to cow thievery in the old Southwest.

According to reports from Berlin, the regime's favorite 300-pound General has just been spread over another job.

Now that Victor Emmanuel is an Emperor, we assume he is permitted an occasional use of "we" in relating recent accomplishments.

MAKE UP FOR ROOM DEFECTS WITH THE PROPER CURTAINING

By RHANDENA A. ARMSTRONG, Home Economics Representative

Changing the window treatment can improve the whole appearance of a room.

Many changes can be made in hanging curtains to improve the appearance of windows that are too wide, too narrow, too high, too low, too large, too deeply recessed, or that are uneven in size and placing.

A low ceiling may be made to appear higher by using a straight hanging curtain at the window and by placing the rod as high as possible on the wood trim of the window. The length of the curtain, too, will modify the appearance of height. Although the common length for the glass curtain is to the window ledge, for the appearance of more height it may come to the bottom of the apron or even to the top of the baseboard.

Exceptionally high ceilings are a characteristic of many old houses. The rooms seem to be stiff and formal and so, to obtain a more cozy and homelike room, attention again is turned to curtains to accomplish the task. A high ceiling will seem lower if the curtains are brought down as far as possible on the top window frame. A valance of the same material as the curtain or a valance and over-drapes help to accomplish the same purpose. Curtains hung out over the side frames of the windows will increase the apparent width of the window. To make a wide window seem narrow the curtain may be hung to expose the frame.

Types of materials also alter the appearance of the windows. Soft, sheer plain materials, such as voile, marquisette, fine nets, and theatrical gauze, fall in soft straight folds and will not exclude too much light, yet will soften the lines of the window and add warmth and hominess to a room. Over-drapes are used too frequently. They give the appearance of filling up the room and often shut out too much light.

Similar window treatment should be used throughout the house to give a more pleasing appearance from the outside. Since the lines of most houses are straight, the curtains should hang straight. However, there are some houses where tie-back curtains give a more homelike appearance.

FASHION PARADE

By Betty Aldan

(I. N. S. Fashion Writer)

NEW YORK — (INS) — Next to your tweed travelling suit, the most important items in your week-end wardrobe are your sports frocks—at least two of them—and your evening clothes. For formal day-time clothes you will have no use, and as for accessories, while they always sound interesting, they are usually too much trouble to pack into a week-end bag. Therefore, for a brief trip "away from it all," confine yourself to the simplest necessities, but let them be as smart as you can afford.

Of course the ubiquitous shirtwaist frock is the first sports frock to select and it should be in a shade that will look well under the topcoat of your travelling suit. For instance, Anita Louise has a new one in a luscious shade of pale blue that looks too grand under the rose topcoat of her tweed suit.

So, check a shirtwaist frock of pastel crepe as your number one sports frock. (Pure silk crepe is safest, too, as it's the easiest to have laundered safely). Then, for your second sports frock, why not a linen culotte dress like the one Bette Davis wears for her exciting tennis game in "The Golden Arrow," her latest picture? A frock like this, in white linen, will be washable, will look well under your wool top-coat, and will be perfect for tennis, golf, bicycling or just loafing around the porch.

For evening, a cotton frock with matching jacket will fill the bill, as you can keep the jacket on if the party is informal, or remove it if bare backs are in order. Then, if you have room (and money) for two evening frocks in your week-end wardrobe, let the other one be of chiffon for it packs easily and the wrinkles shake out swiftly. And you're sure to be glamorous in chiffon.

In fact, the most stunning outfit worn at the recent Newspaperwomen's Ball was the flame-colored chiffon frock with long matching cape worn by Alice Hughes, the well-known fashion writer. It was made on slimly flowing lines and the cape floated straight from shoulder to hem, and the colors shaded from pale rose to deepest flame. Lovely, with Alice's dark hair and classic features!

Of course if you're week-ending at the beach, you must include a bathing suit in your wardrobe, but basically, the above-noted items will see you through not one, but almost every occasion of your holidays!

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Chiffon and lace look as though they'd reach an all time high in gowns this summer.

Already, nine out of ten evening dresses seen in Hollywood seem to be of the one or the other—or better still, of the two combined.

be combined, also with extra contrast in color, were a gown made of alternate bands of white chiffon and black lace to the dinner given in tribute to Carl Laemmle. Made with full skirt, this dinner dress had a little round turn-down collar of the chiffon, buttons all down the front, and short puffy sleeves with cuffs.

Four of Anita Louise's Europe-going dresses were chiffon—dainty things with shirring, drapes and floating scarves—and Paula Stone, at the recent dance of the Warner Club in the Biltmore Bowl, wore white chiffon with high Empire waistline, full skirt, and medieval shoulders, drifting cape-like to the floor. The medieval note was further emphasized by her little fillet cap of rhinestones, twinkling in Paula's red hair.

I liked, too, at a cocktail party, the black lace gown on the opera singer, Margaret Matzenauer, and the black chiffon with a flesh-colored top, worn by Barbara Stanwyck.

Recently, for studio use, I purchased several bolts of the very newest kind of lace... sheer, gossamer, cobwebby stuff, often with iridescent overtone. There is a black net, with an all-over leaf pattern of black silk braid, that is very smart... there is a smoky cobweb with a square, iridescent paillette like mother-of-pearl in the center of every flower-pattern, that will make a wonderful dance frock for Ruby Keeler, one of these days... there is a crisp, flesh-colored net with cellophane-stripped flowers that I will use in a fashion show in Kay Francis' next picture... and there are several white and pastel and black nets with a heavy thread, almost a cord, woven into all-over embroidery designs.

Let chiffon, net and lace give their delicate touch of romance to your summer wardrobe—and for additional smartness, choose them in some of the grand new patterns just out this year.

Father Walls Becomes Rector at S. Langhorne

The Very Rev. Andrew A. Walls has been named rector of the Marist Apostolic School and Superior of the Community at St. Mary's Manor, South Langhorne.

The appointment is announced by the Superior General in Rome through the Very Rev. Joseph M. Sullivan, provincial of the Washington Province. Father Walls is 51 and a native of Philadelphia. He attended St. Veronica's Parochial School before preparing for the priesthood.

His first appointment was as professor of science at Jefferson College, Convent, La., an educational institution conducted by the Marist Fathers.

After seven years service in Louisiana, he was transferred to Marist Seminary, Washington, D. C., where he taught mathematics and science. Here he remained for two years. On June 18, 1919, he went to St. Mary's Manor as treasurer and professor of science. He was made Vice-Superior of the Community of St. Mary's Manor on June 28, 1931. Since the death of the Very Rev. Richard Smith, former rector of the Marist Preparatory Seminary, Father Walls has been administrator of the School and acting-superior of the community.

THE OLD SAYING THAT "YOU PAY FOR WHAT YOU GET"

Is a true saying, but it is equally true that YOU DON'T ALWAYS GET FULL VALUE FOR AMOUNT YOU PAY. Example: You don't need to guard against the other party giving you more value than you are paying for, but you need to watch lest you won't receive value for money you pay. This principle holds true even in insurance. In 1919 a number of progressive, and successful farmers and business men throughout Lancaster and Dauphin counties got together and formed an Insurance Company known as Penna. Threshermen's and Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, for the purpose of securing for themselves every advantage an insurance company could give its policy-holders at actual cost. That they have succeeded is proven by the company's marvelous growth in its thousands of satisfied policy-holders. Therefore, if you need Compensation Insurance or Automobile Insurance, here is the place to get all an insurance company can give you, at actual cost. If interested, we can refer you to hundreds of policy-holders in your immediate vicinity.

RADIOS, PAPERS, SONGS AND DANCES,
ON THE MARCH OF TIME ADVANCES!

A bubble from the first man's dreaming,
"Von Hindenburg" floats in again:
A million years of toil and sweat
Of endless strife and bitter pain.

A thousand, thousand dreaming men,
A million hands against the sky—
Hear the struggling caveman's boast:
"We creep, but our son's sons shall fly!"

The sun, the wind, the earth, the trees,
We harness them, to tend our need—
But still we do not know ourselves,
Mixed heritage of love and greed.

Soon we shall know—a thousand years,
Is but a day, the poets say—
Why some are born to joy and fame,
And some in shame must pass away.

So tragedy shrouds Williams College,
Two young students, side by side—
Had we known human frailty
Would they needlessly have died?

Kansas Landon wins New Jersey,
Hoffman "delegate-at-large" will be.
Hot diggity-dog! the fur will fly
This Fall, dear fellow voters, see!

Old Age Revolving Pensions, Inc.,
Took a bounce or two this week—
Depression years, collects a million,
Doc Townsend knows it's dollars speak!

"The Yanks are coming"—"Over there, over there,"
The Sad Generation, that started so gay!
"The Bonus is coming, Over here, over here,"
And the War boys and girls will have their day!

Trouble brews in ancient Austria,
Seat of the Hapsburg, mother of war,
Knocking, full of grief and trouble,
At Italy's triumphant door.

Haile goes to solemn exile,
His little dog trots at his heel.
Albion withdraws her warships,
Father Time turns his wheel.

I saw the dawn o'er Bristol's roofs
This morning. Rose-lit cloudlets drifting
Across the silver-grey of morning
A little river breeze lifting.
So, by our window, we may share
Dawn's mystery with the Delaware!

LANDRETH PARK TO OPEN HERE TODAY AT 3

This afternoon at three o'clock the Landreth Baseball Park, home grounds of the Landreth Baseball Team, will be officially opened here when Burgess Clifford L. Anderson will toss out the first ball and deliver a brief address.

The park is located just over the borough line and was formerly known as Sullivan's field. The grounds have been enclosed with a tight board fence and a grandstand erected which will accommodate several hundred spectators.

As the opening attraction the Landreth team will play Mt. Holly.

American Legion Cadets will put on a drill at two o'clock as an added feature for the opening festivities.

TULLYTOWN A. A. DROPS FIFTH STRAIGHT GAME

Tullytown A. A. dropped its fifth straight game of the Bristol Twilight League last night on their home field when they were downed by the Excelsior Colored Club, 5-1, in a wonderfully played game. By virtue of their win, the colored boys climbed into fourth place in the league standing.

The Excelsior team fielded ably behind the pitching of Elijah Bragg. Not one error was made by the victors while the Tullytown club was charged with two. The firemen used fourteen players in the tilt in an effort to stem the tide of the score. Green started on the hill but gave way to Dennen at the beginning of the sixth.

Georgie Ritter continued his brilliant playing by handling five more chances without an error. Out of twenty-seven chances this season, Ritter has committed but two errors at the short-stop post for the cellar-dwellers. Yorty and Carmen led the hitters with two hits each.

BRISTOL NINE DROPS 5-3 SCORE TO STONEHURST

The Landreth team dropped a 5-3 decision to Stonehurst Hills at Upper Darby last night.

Ashby pitching for the "Farmers," duplicated his erratic pitching of two weeks ago and by wildness in the opening inning, gave the home team an early lead. Walking the first three men to face him, he loaded the bags.

Stevens fanned. Boyle hit between first and second. Bruce and Heftman both tried for the ball, Boyle beating Heftman in the race for the bag. Powell scoring from third. Verrall scored when Godfrey grounded to Heftman forcing the runner at second. A double steal was tried and was successful when Pursell made a throw, not so good, to second and Dragon raced in with the third run of the inning from third.

The score:

DELIA AND SURELLA TO BE ON BOXING CARD

A match which thrilled the spectators at the final St. Ann's A. A. indoor boxing show of the season, between Vince Delia, St. Ann's, and Tony Surella, Seymour, will be repeated at the opening outdoor show which will be held in the St. Ann's open air arena, Wood and Franklin streets, Monday night.

The last meeting between the pair of 120-pounders proved to be an equal bout. Surella was awarded the verdict by his cleverness and experience. Delia landed the hardest blows of the bout and in the second round almost had Surella to the floor. It was Delia's first bout in two months. Now the Purple and Gold warrior feels that he is in much better shape than at that time and expects to beat the Philadelphia youth.

Bouts for Willie Leighton and Tally Sciarra have not been completed as yet. Sciarra may fight Frank Carpinelli, Seymour, or Clarence Jenkins, East Side. Leighton may draw Francesco LaPlaca as his foe. Phil Quici has not been given an opponent but will before Monday night.

Match-maker Patsey Moffo will use

Frank Rubino, a newcomer in the local ranks, against Joe Regan, Kensington. Al Horn will fight Tommy Pancoast and the Maglione-Hall bout is completed. Harry Graber, East Side, is matched with Charlie Sullick, Kensington.

Moffo is trying hard to land the Ed Miller-Frank Donofrio setto. These boys battered each other unmercifully at the Arena last Tuesday night and Moffo put in a bid for an encore. It is not decided whether he will receive the bid or not.

Reserve seats have been sold beyond expectations and finance-manager Charles Aita stated last night that before Monday night he does not expect to have a reserve seat left. General admission tickets, 1000 in all, will not go on sale until seven o'clock of the night of the fights.

OUTBOARD RACES ON DELAWARE PASS HERE

With a star-studded field which includes both previous winners, the third annual Delaware River outboard motorboat shuttle marathon will be staged this afternoon.

One big change has been made this year. Whereas in both previous races the 64-mile course has been from the Trenton Yacht Club to Camden and return, the route this year has been reversed. The start will be made from the Farragut Sportsmen's Association, 25th Street and the Delaware River, Camden, at 2 o'clock. The boats will round a stake boat off the Trenton Yacht Club as the turning point in the race.

Sammy Crooks, of Rumson, former intercollegiate champion while at Rutgers University, will be out to repeat the victory he scored last year. Crooks has been steadily rising in prominence in the past few years. He finished third in the Albany-New York marathon, granddaddy of all outboard grinds, last year and placed second in the 1936 race several weeks ago.

Crooks, who recently turned pro, will find plenty of competition from Freddy Jacoby, Jr., the North Bergen scenery painter, who won the 1934 Delaware marathon. Gar Wood, Jr., son of the speedboat king, is also entered and spent the past two days tuning up his boat on the river.

Mayor Frederick von Neida, of Camden, has donated a large gold trophy as first prize.

TO PLAY NORTH PHILLIES

Tomorrow afternoon on Leedom's ground the Bristol A. A. team will cross bats with the strong North Phillies, formerly of the Philadelphia League, one of the strongest clubs in Philadelphia.

Ralph Stromp will harp for the A. A. team with Dougherty behind the plate, Cooper on first, Thompson 2b, Zefferies ss, Roe 3b, Eastlack lf, Ihrig cf, Oppman rf, Tryon p, will be the rest of the A. A. line-up. Game called at 3 p. m. Come out and root for the home club.

HULMEVILLE

Mrs. Harry Force returned home last Saturday, following a period of observation at the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia.

Visitors yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Force, Sr., were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Force and Mr. and Mrs. William Force, Bristol.

Guests one day this week of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haas were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis, Fox Chase, former residents of this borough.

An expenditure of 25 cents for a classified advertisement will sell for you that piece of furniture which you no longer need. And you'll receive several dollars in return.—(Advertisement.)

APPRECIATION

We, the members of St. Ann's Athletic Association, take this means to express our sincerest thanks to the people of this vicinity for the splendid manner in which they have supported our amateur boxing bouts during the past year. Through this whole-hearted support, we have been able to develop our organization to the point where we are recognized as a factor in the Amateur Athletic Union, and has enabled us also to equip our gymnasium, where our members can develop themselves into useful citizens.

We are striving to give the best we can to the furtherance of sports in Bristol, and with the fine support shown by the public as in the past, we will continue to do so.

Again, we thank you.

Those Joe Louis Jitters

By BURNLEY

It has often been repeated by critics of Joe Louis that he has never yet been put to the test by an opponent who would really fight back, instead of folding up with hardly an offensive gesture, as his major foes have in the past. This charge brings out a very interesting point about the psychological effect of the Dark Destroyer on his ring foes. It seems that there is something about the cold, expressionless Louis countenance that strikes terror in the heart of his victims, paralyzing them with fright, much as a snake freezes its prey into helpless immobility.

Baer, Carnera, Levinsky and Paulino all made boastful pre-battle statements, ridiculing the idea that they would fear the Brown Embalmers, but as the time for battle drew near they began to show unmistakable signs of developing the screaming meemies; and after one look into the beady eyes of the tan-skinned killer of the ring at weighing-in time, they were beaten men before drawing on a fighting mitten.

Even stout-hearted old Paulino, supposed not to know the meaning of fear, was affected in the same jittery way by the Detroit Devastator's hypnotic influence.

The question before all bright pupils at present is this: Will Moxie Schmeling, typically German in his Teutonic stolidity, stoicism and raw courage, succumb to the deadly contagion of the Louis jitters as all the rest have, or will he actually live up to his promises and face the Bomber unafraid, trading punch for punch? Even if he is beaten fighting this way at least it will be a not inglorious defeat.
